Teachers Hold Annual Convention

To Convene Here Next Year

Miss Lola Mabey, New President

At the opening session of the 12th annual session of the Wainwright Teachers' Association, there assembled a splendid attendance of teachers in charge of the 130 some schools represented in the Wainwright Inspectorate of which Mr. L. Good is Inspector.

Promptly at 9 a.m. Mr. G. A. Taylor, president, opened the convention with a few well chosen remarks of greeting. He then called upon Rev. W. S. Brooker for the opening prayer. The address of welcome was presented by Mayor Forster, who spoke briefly along lines of particular interest to the teachers. Having just been chosen the Liberal candidate for the Battle River district, he came near making a real political speech, in his remarks on teachers salaries. He said they were under paid and it was largely the fault of the present administration and that he hoped to see a movement promoted to grant the teachers a bonus for faithful services rendered during these days of financial depression. He further stated, he had taken great interest in watching the convention grow in interest and success since its inception 12 years ago.

Mrs. B. Hughes, of Mayfield S.D., replied to the welcome address of Mayor Forster. She said that coming to Wainwright was a happy event and that Wainwright was a fitting and proper place to hold the convention in that it was the logical center of social and educational activities.

Mr. Lorne Good, B.S.C., Inspector of the Wainwright district gave a very fine address. Included in his remarks he brought out the following points of interest. Along with the previous speakers of the morning a very hearty welcome and personal thanks are extended to each member of this convention. Considering the conditions prevailing at the time, our convention this year as well as last year has been especially well attended and thus a definite desire for such gatherings is expressed.

Personal appreciation of their efforts and thanks are extended to the Convention Committee especially Mr. George Taylor, president, and Miss E. E. Hart, secretary, and to all persons appearing upon the program who have co-operated so splendidly toward making this Convention both possible and successful.

The present economic depression has made a curtailment of expenditure necessary in connection with the schools as it has in all other lines of endeavor. In the face of this condition, the teachers have co-operated loyally with the local school officials and have shown a very definite desire to appreciate the difficulties faced by parents and trustees, also a willingness to aid in the best possible solution of these difficulties. Additional duties have been freely accepted by teachers in the way of offering extra high school instruction so that pupils who otherwise would have been unable to continue with their study. Parents and ratepayers are appreciative of these efforts and show a willingness toward co-operation with the teacher.

All institutions have during recent years been seeking to become as efficient as possible. This should be especially the case where institutions are directly dependent upon taxation as a source of revenue. Taxes however small are increasingly difficult to meet. The expenditure be as judiciously and as economically made, in connection with essential services as is consistent with reasonable efficiency and fair to the person offering the services. An earnest endeavor should be made to make the individual school as an efficient unit as possible.

The schoolroom is a very complex situation and a multitude of factors enter into its efficiency. One factor

After the picture a dance was held at which a large number of the teachers were present and a very enjoyable time was reported.

The sessions of the forenoon on Friday were held in the Wainwright Public School building and consisted of discussions of various methods of school instruction. Mr. R. L. Martin, of Irma, acted as chairman.

Leader Alta. Prohib. Ass. Passes Suddenly

Was Martyr To A Great Cause

On Friday, October 20, 1933, a great man fell a victim to the result of over work in his zeal for the promotion of a great cause.

The writer first met the deceased in January, 1932 when he was conducting a debate over the air from a Calgary station. The petitions were being circulated to close the Beer Rooms. For a week the writer assisted Mr. Hull in the circulation of the petitions and had the pleasure to be assigned to the office section of Calgary, and in doing so met nearly every outstanding business man of Calgary. It would be quite interesting to relate the reaction which came from these calls. Being an entire stranger, we presented the petitions to the wets as well as the dries.

In pushing a cause like prohibition there is always the strongest opposition, some coming from those who should be ardently supporting it as well as those who are bitterly opposed to it. In his work, Mr. Hull, was strongly in favor of the one main idea, that of closing up the Beer parlours. The result of the circulation of the petitions indicated the feeling of the people on the subject. The matter was brought before the legislature, but held up by Mr. Hull and his supporters never for one moment relented from their purpose of ultimately getting the petitions before the people for a vote.

The supreme sacrifice of Mr. Hull to carry his ambition along the line of temperance has made a lasting impression on his followers. To his enemies as well as supporters have flashed out a feeling of deep and profound appreciation of his noble sacrifice in the interest of a great cause. A leading hotel manager in Edmonton, said to us, "Mr. Hull always told me I was lying as to my honest attitude toward his work and I told him he was a real thing, only he was wrong." This remark was said in a spirit of goodwill indicating to us that even by those whose business Mr. Hull was apparently fighting, yet they deeply respected him for his position on the question of Prohibition.

The Vice-President of the Alberta Prohibition Association, Mr. Barnes, in speaking at the funeral service made the remark "That Mr. Hull had the whole-hearted support of his family." It was the honored privilege of the writer to spend a few minutes in the home of Mr. Hull, the following day after the funeral where he had gone, as he supposed to offer a few kind words of consolation and comfort to the wife and two daughters. The secret of Mr. Hull's success and unrelenting courage, was partially discovered in that visit. From the lips of Mrs. Hull there fell words of supreme courage and faith in God, such as we ourselves had hoped to be able to give, but realizing instantly that we were sitting in the presence of one who had far surpassed us in spiritual depth and wisdom. As we arose and departed from that home we felt that surrounded and supported by a holy influence such as his family gave to him, it was the secret of the towering strength with which he went forward to carry on the noble work in which he was so deeply and vitally concerned.

Mr. Hull in person has gone, but his memory is a monument that will stand out as one of the great contributing factors in the moulding of a greater province, as his noble sacrifice will inspire hundreds of noble men and women to seize and carry on the torch which he has sponsored for 15 years. "God buries men but not the cause."

This is a challenge to every noble minded citizen to carry on.

Liberals Hold Convention Here

A Liberal Convention for the organization and selection of a candidate to contest the Federal riding of the Battle River Constituency was held in the Elite Theatre, Wednesday afternoon, October 25th, 1933. There was a very good attendance despite the poor roads.

Martin L. Forster, of Wainwright, was chosen as the nominee for the Liberal party in the Battle River Constituency.

The Hon. Charles Stewart, M.P., gave a brief address outlining the policies of the Liberal Party. He advocated an early Provincial election.

W. B. Howson, M. L. A., who was scheduled to speak was unable to come.

The minutes of the last Liberal Convention was read and approved, after which an election of officers was held.

The following officers were elected: President—Alvin Johnstone, Edmon; Vice President—Mrs. Norman McLennan, Vermilion; Gilbert Shave, Vermilion and Secretary—Treasurer—J. A. MacKenzie, Wainwright.

Executive—Matt. Alesger, Leigh; James Garry, Inlay; H. Bigelow, Clondonald; R. B. Hall, Innisfree; Archie Campbell, Maughan, C. W. Robertson, Vermilion; Wm. Maason, Irma; L. F. Byrnes, Edgerton; W. J. Cubitt, Chauvin; Jos. Towley, Hughenden; E. Dooner, Provost.

The entertainment put on by the Leslie Grossmith company consisted of many beautiful classical selections of his own composition. These selections were thoroughly enjoyed by all, also Mitty in her impersonation of Maurice Chevalier and the French Soldier.

The dance after the entertainment put on for the pleasure of those attending performance, was enjoyed very much although the crowd was small.

We wish Leslie Grossmith much luck with his book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," or "The Immortal Slave" as he now calls this book which he has made into a grand opera. Listen in on your radio next year and you will have the pleasure of hearing Leslie Grossmith's grand opera, "The Immortal Slave."

You Be the Judge

Initiative

Initiative, or the lack of it, the development or the denial of it, appear to be quite common subjects of discussion in these days of the Great Depression. On the one hand, people are heard to say that adoption of the programme of the Socialists would result in the destruction of individual initiative, while, on the other hand, exponents of Socialism ask what initiative is left to people these days, and what initiative has an unemployed man substituting on Government relief?

Both are wrong. Socialism could not destroy individual initiative even if it would, because initiative is an attribute of the human individual, and it can be, has been, and always will be developed under any conceivable kind of government, or system, or set of circumstances. Initiative is God-given and cannot be destroyed, although its expression in definite action may be hindered, even for a time prevented.

Nor is it correct to say that present day conditions are destructive of initiative, and that there is no room for its exercise by many people at this time. Rather, the reverse is true. Necessity is said to be the mother of invention, and invention is only possible where initiative is first displayed. The necessities of the present are, therefore, an urge to greater rather than less initiative.

Not only so, but evidence is not lacking, rather it is available on every hand, demonstrating the fact that greater initiative is being manifested by thousands of hard pressed individuals than they ever thought of exercising in the days of prosperity.

After all, what is initiative? A simple dictionary definition says it is an introductory act or step; the first active procedure in any enterprise; power of taking the lead or of originating. That is, a baby shows initiative when it begins to creep, and more initiative when it takes its first toddling steps, and from that time onward through life. It cannot be destroyed.

But it can be encouraged, or discouraged; its development can be assisted or retarded. Parents and teachers have a very great responsibility in this respect. Employers, too, have an obligation in much the same way towards their employees, and if they are far-seeing they will realize that it is to their own advantage, as well as promoting the advancement of the employee, to encourage and assist their workers to display initiative in the tasks allotted to them. While it may be true, as sometimes charged, that Capitalism operates in some ways to lessen initiative, it is also true that in quite as many other ways Capitalism has promoted initiative.

Governments, too, under whatever system may be in vogue in a country, may develop the initiative of not only individual citizens, but of a whole people, and country. Too much parentalism in a home is a deadly influence upon the development of the initiative of a child, weakening its self-reliance, and sapping its courage. In like manner, too much parentalism in government operates as a deadly influence upon the citizenship of a country, weakening its self-reliance of the people, and sapping their courage to meet the inevitable obstacles and difficulties which sooner or later in life must be met and, if success is to be achieved, overcome.

Parents should not be expected to do everything for their children; teachers should not do things for their pupils but train them to do everything they can for themselves, only so is character and ability developed; employers should not look upon their workers as mere cogs in a machine, but as thinking, intelligent human beings with personalities and abilities and thinking powers of their own to develop and use for the common good of all. Governments are the creation of people in the mass to do for them what they, as individuals, cannot alone do for themselves, but Governments were never intended to perform those services which the individual can and ought to do for himself and herself.

Referring back to our dictionary definition of initiative,—that it is the power of taking the lead or of originating,—the truth must be impressed upon us that, in the final analysis, it is the individual that must originate. In any great enterprise, or undertaking, in any large corporation, it is some one individual who first originated the idea to the development of which the organized forces of all are finally directed. Governments are only groups of individuals, and their policies have their birth in the minds of individuals, and their acts of administration are but the carrying into effect of a policy resulting from the initiative of some individual in the first instance, the wisdom and value of which is ultimately recognized by all.

A man or woman lacking in initiative never gets very far. If they are content to let others do their reading, study and thinking for them, then they will never become educated. If they are willing to lean upon others, and rely upon the judgment of others for decisions that may have to be made, then they will always be dependents, and never independent. If they refuse to exert themselves, to express themselves, they will go through life bereft of the influence they might and ought to have exercised upon their times and fellowmen.

Initiative is a power, let it be repeated, that all possess. But like all powers it must be used, exercised, brought into play. Only so is it of any value, and only so can it be developed, and made to be the rich thing in the life of the individual it ought to be, and only so can the rewards it is designed to bring to its possessor be won. It is a great gift, an imperishable gift, which should be highly prized, never surrendered, nor allowed to fall into disuse.

Signs Are The Same

"Most women," says a writer, "can tell by looking at their husbands when they get home from work whether it will be a picture show or a quiet evening at home." At the same time most men can tell it by just looking at their wives.

Science Comes To Aid

Can Help Narcotic Addicts To Overcome The Habit

Science has found a solution to the problem of the narcotic addict who attempts to free himself of the habit, anaesthetists of the United States and Canada were told at their annual congress recently in Chicago.

Three New York anaesthetists related their success in blocking nerves by means of alcohol injections effective for days and even weeks, thus relieving the patient of the torture of fever, nausea, and other symptoms inevitably associated with stopping the use of a narcotic.

Most of the cases were those of persons who had contracted the habit as the result of intense pain during sickness or injury. Dr. M. B. Gross of New York explained, adding that it was different when the subject used narcotics from desire and was not interested in breaking the habit.

ARM IN SLING WITH NEURITIS

A "token of gratification" this woman says she is giving when she writes of her relief from neuritis.

"For twelve months I had neuritis in my arm, and up till the last two weeks have had to carry it in a sling. Since then I have abandoned my sling, and am able to sleep undisturbed, and can perform household duties that previously I would not have done. These benefits I have received from Kruschen Salts. This has all happened in two weeks, and I am optimistic enough to think that it is an omen for the future. I shall have said goodbye to neuritis once and for all. Call this a testimonial if you choose—to me it is a token of gratification."

(J. M. E. L.) Neuritis is a result of impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues, that causes those excruciating pains. Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy, normal condition.

Argentine Raising Peanuts

Has Gone Into New Industry On Large Scale

Coffee and beef not being so much in favor as years gone by Argentina is beginning to raise peanuts on a rather large scale. In the past crop season production amounted to 145,000, 500 pounds as compared with 120, 328,450 pounds in the 1931-32 season, an increase of 33.5 per cent. The area harvested amounted to 194,393 acres an increase of 68.8 per cent. The average yield per acre was 892.5 pounds.

Queer Animals In Oxford Zoo

Cat Has Fully-Developed Fur-Covered Wings

The curator of the Oxford Zoo has been puzzled by the arrival of a black, fully-developed, fur-covered wings, with which it is stated it came. It was seen in a local garden to move from the ground to a beam, to which it could not have leaped, using its wings in a manner similar to a bird. The wings grow just in front of the hindquarters and measure a foot from tip to tip. The curator says he is somewhat sceptical whether the cat can really fly in the sense that a bird does. It is possible that its hindquarters are powerful and that it can spring to a considerable height, aided by its wings.

Romans Hid One-Way Roads

One-way traffic was used by the Romans in Pompeii. The traffic problem was had then because Caesar's chaise jammed the Appian Way. In 1868 a semaphore arm signal was erected at the junction of Bridge Street and New Palace Yard, London, and was illuminated by gas at night. All this was disclosed by H. E. Aldington at a meeting of the Institute of Transport in London to prove that present traffic problems are not new.

New Submarine Chaser

Royal Air Force Machine Will Be Stationed At Malta

The first Royal Air Force flying boat carrying a quick-firing gun, capable of firing shells, in addition to ordinary machine guns, has been completed by the Blackburn Airplane Company at Brough. The craft is designed principally for submarine chasing.

The new gun, which is mounted on a rotary turret in the forward cockpit, can fire 100 rounds per minute on one-half pound shells over an effective range of 1,500 yards. The shells are held in clips of five. The connection from firing all five rounds in quick time is said to temporarily reduce the forward speed of the flying boat by ten miles per hour. The experiment of mounting the gun, whose recoil—representing a pull of 1,600 pounds which has to be absorbed in the boat's structure—will be watched with keen interest by air forces of several nations which are concerned with the same problem. The machine will be able to fly 132 miles per hour with a maximum range of 1,500 miles. The wing spread is 97 feet and the length is 70 feet. It stands nearly 26 feet high. The new ship, named "Blanchard" is one of four to be stationed at Malta.

Does Not Produce Chancellors

Only Two In Last Hundred Years Born In Scotland

Where do the Chancellors come from? Scotland claims so many of the Premiers and Archbishops of Canterbury of recent years that it would not be surprising to find the Northern Kingdom providing a good proportion of Chancellors of the Exchequer as well, especially in view of the Scottish genius for looking after the lawbooks. In reality, however, only two Chancellors in the last 100 years were born in Scotland—Sir Robert Horne and the first Lord Ritchie. Mr. Neville Chamberlain was born in Birmingham—and so was his brother, Sir Austen, who was Chancellor thirty years ago. London can claim Di- rectors and a number of others. Among the counties, Yorkshire can boast of three great names—Lord Snowden, the late Lord Oxford and Asquith, and William Harcourt. But Lancashire can show three who are possibly still more famous—Mr. Lloyd George, who was born in Manchester, Gladstone, and Sir Robert Peel.

Recalled From Washington

Not Expected To Return And No Reason Given

Ambassador Debutchi, for five years Japan's envoy to the United States, has been summoned to Japan and does not expect to return to Washington. No disclosure has been made of who will succeed him nor was any official explanation made of the reasons behind the summons.

Speculation arose immediately over whether the decision of President Roosevelt to negotiate with Soviet Russia for a restoration of diplomatic relations had influenced the sudden action of the Tokyo government.

For nearly two years there have been frequent reports from Japan that Debutchi was too conciliatory in his attitude toward the United States and that the army group within the Japanese government.

MAY MOVE TO RAISE PRICES OF FARM PRODUCTS

Winnipeg, Manitoba.—Unless most packers and other interests dealing in farm products take action to raise the prices the farmer receives, the government may be forced to step in and do it for them, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told the Winnipeg Board of Trade. The same thing, he said, applied to insurance and loan companies holding farm mortgages at interest rates the farmer was unable to pay.

"It will be asked," said Mr. Stevens, "why does not the government do this? There are several reasons, some of them constitutional. But if private enterprise fails to find a solution the government may have to step in and do it for them. Beef, butter and eggs, Mr. Stevens said, were consumed almost entirely within Canada. The price of these commodities, unlike wheat, could be raised if business men got together. Choice steers were now bringing $3 to $3.50, a ridiculous price. Mortgage companies also, he said, would have to get together and reduce interest rates and extend time. Farmers could not pay eight and 10 per cent.

Relief Distribution

Retail Merchants in Alberta Want To Handle Job

Calgary, Alberta.—Alberta government will be asked to distribute relief in drought areas through retail merchants as a result of a resolution passed by the Alberta Board of the Retail Merchants' Association at the close of a two-day meeting here.

Members of the board agreed problems of the association made advisable an annual convention this year and it was decided to hold it in Edmonton early in 1934. A conference between manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers, also approved, may be held at the same time. Looking to a year which is expected to see conditions much improved, the financial statement showed an operating profit for the first nine months.

Goes To Washington

Soviet Commissioner To Confer With President Roosevelt

Moscow, Russia.—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, is en route to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt regarding the United States recognition of Russia. The commissioner's departure was attended by a great air of mystery and secrecy because of his desire to travel incognito. His private car was attached to the Berlin train, a route was by way of Warsaw, Poland.

Chance To Break Record

Agassiz, B.C.—The world's egg-laying record was equalled when "Daughter Bessie," White Leghorn pullet, laid her 351st egg in 358 days. A University of British Columbia White Leghorn, in 1928 laid 351 eggs in 364 days. "Daughter Bessie" has a chance to break the world's record of 357 eggs for a 365-day period.

Attacks Roosevelt's Plan

Nottingham, England.—Sir George Palash, world-famed economist, declared in a speech here that President Roosevelt's efforts to expand the income of the United States were having serious reactions all over the world. It is very doubtful, he added, whether any country would be able to remain on the gold standard.

Prospectors Walk Out

Atlin, B.C.—Three prospectors arrived safely at this remote settlement in the extreme northwest of British Columbia after a trip on foot from Wolf Lake, more than 100 miles away in Yukon Territory. The trio—Fred and George Cameron and Fred Alexander—left Wolf Lake with an Indian guide and provision for several weeks.

Returning To Canada

Geneva, Switzerland.—Hon. Dr. R. J. Mackenzie, Canadian Minister of Railways and Canada, who has been leading the Canadian delegation at the meeting of the League of Nations since mid-September, sailed for Canada aboard the "Empress of Britain" from Cherbougue, November 3.

School For Unemployed

Edmonton, Alberta.—Unemployed teachers of Edmonton are forming a school for unemployed, to hold classes during the coming winter. A similar plan for education of jobless was in use last year, the workless teachers donating their services.

Needs Food And Livestock

Economists Say Russia Could Absorb World's Agricultural Surplus

London, Eng.—Observers in close touch with the Russian situation expressed amazement at a report from New York that $500,000,000 credit was being sought on behalf of the Soviet in connection with the overtures looking to possible United States recognition with $450,000,000 wanted for machinery and steel rails and $50,000,000 for cotton.

The observers said rails form one of the direct of Russian needs, but pointed out that Russia's most urgent need is for foodstuffs, and livestock of all kinds. Independent agricultural economists here say Russia could absorb the whole world's agricultural surplus on long-term credit.

Indeed, it was noted, farmers in the United States are destroying millions of pigs they could have shipped to Russia and likewise horses and cattle which could easily be transported on both land and sea. Besides, much labor and industrial trouble in Russia would be reduced if ample food and livestock supplies were available, according to an economist who believes foodstuffs are needed more than tools.

Another source held that if the Canadian and United States wheat surplus had been exported to Russia two years ago, it would have taken supplies off the market and at the same time would have saved Russian peasants from the famine of last winter. Anglo-Russian trade negotiations are progressing slowly and smoothly.

Plot Frustrated

Attempt On Life Of Viscount Ralston

London, Eng.—Police started an investigation into what they described as an "undoubted attempt on the life of Viscount Ralston, only surviving son of Earl Willington, vicerey of India and former Governor-General of Canada.

Police were called when Miss Dorota Plattau, a neighbor of the vicerey, encountered a man she said was an "Indian" crouching on the flat roof outside his apartment.

She said the man carried an 18-inch curved knife and that when she threw a flower pot at him he fled. Authorities recovered the knife and a piece of lead pipe the intruder threw at Miss Plattau.

The vicerey, who was said to be going to India next Monday, was not at home when the incident occurred.

Miss Plattau, a novelist, said she was giving a party at her Victoria Square home and that when she went into her study she heard a noise outside that caused her to look out of the window. It was then, she declared, that she saw the man crouching on the roof. The man, she said, was outside the vicerey's bathroom.

Labor Troubles In Cuba

Break Again When Resignation Of Government Is Rumored

Havana, Cuba.—While a United States destroyer stood off the coast of Cuba to aid in checking serious labor disorders, official attention again swung to politics when it became known President Grau's cabinet went to the palace prepared to resign.

The resignation was said in high government circles to have been offered as a result of serious consideration of a semi-parliamentary government proposal under which a commission of 20 would be established to virtually control Cuban affairs.

President Grau held acceptance of the resignations in abeyance pending further study.

Serious labor troubles at several American-owned sugar mills worried the government as at least one American was endangered by striking workers who held him prisoner.

The United States destroyer in Oriente province, near the Alto "Twigs" was standing by off Mantilla, in Oriente province, near the Alto Cedro sugar mill, where C. M. Jervis, the American manager, was held by strikers who had formed a Soviet regime.

New Trade Transaction

North Portal, Sask.—A unique reciprocal trade transaction has been made here with the shipment of 3,000 live baby bass from the North Dakota fish and game branch to the Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources in exchange for several thousand pickerel eggs.

More Voters In B.C.

Vancouver, B.C.—Sixty-two thousand more voters are registered for the provincial election than were on the lists in 1928, according to figures released by the British Columbia government. The total is 307,367 compared with 245,240 five years ago.

Political Leader Dies

W. J. Bowser Is Victim Of Heart Attack

Vancouver, B.C.—Death struck unexpectedly to remove from the turbulent political scene of British Columbia one of the champions of the independent-non-partisan cause, W. J. Bowser, K.C., and infuse new confusion into the already muddled election situation.

Mr. Bowser's death removed a figure familiar for 42 years in the political arena of this province. He was a former Conservative premier and had held various cabinet positions.

The veteran campaigner was the victim of a sudden heart attack. He was 65 and a native of Ontario, N.E.

While political friends and foes banded to pay tribute, election officials found themselves confronted with a situation believed unique in the annals of this province.

Mr. Bowser was running in both Vancouver Centre and Victoria on the independent, election, which take place November 2. Election officials in Victoria announced the election in both ridings will be deferred until November 27.

Relief Distribution

300 Cars Distributed Free Of Charge In Saskatchewan Areas

Saskatoon, Sask.—More than 200 railway box cars, loaded with produce, have been distributed free of charge this fall in needy areas of Saskatchewan, it was learned Wednesday from Dr. John L. Nicol, superintendent of missions in northern Saskatchewan for the United Church of Canada.

All of this work has been done under the Saskatchewan relief commission with the aid of the railway companies.

People of five provinces contributed donations but residents of Saskatchewan supplied more than half of the total to less fortunate inhabitants of their own province.

PROVISION MADE FOR JOBLESS DURING WINTER

Ottawa, Ont.—Single unemployed men will be absorbed into work camps to be established under the direction of the Department of National Defence, as part of the program for meeting the unemployment problem during the winter. These camps will be utilized for carrying out federal projects, and the Dominion will clothe, feed and house the men and give them 20 cents per day for tobacco, etc.

Agreements concluded with the provinces, it is stated, follow along lines already indicated. Again the Dominion will pay 33 1/2 per cent of the labor cost of municipal public works. The federal government will also pay 60 cents per day toward men employed on the trans-Canada Highway, and 50 cents per day for those employed on provincial highways.

In respect to such single unemployed men as may be unable, for physical or other reasons, to go to the work camps, the Dominion will pay half the cost of supporting them up to a total of 40 cents a day.

Unemployment relief measures occupied the cabinet council at a two and a half hour session with Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, outlining to the government the measures being taken and proposed.

No official announcement was made at the close but Mr. Gordon said there was practically no change in the system which has been in operation for some time.

URGE BRITAIN TO INCREASE NAVAL STRENGTH

Two of Great Britain's most famous naval experts, Admiral Sir Errol Chatfield (left), First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, and Earl Beatty (right), former chief of the British Naval Staff, broke into the news within two days of each other. Both were reported as urging Great Britain to increase her naval strength as necessary for the security of the British Empire.

Lord Irwin, former Viceroy of India, who is reported to be the likely choice for the most dignified position in the world, the chancellorship of Oxford University. The post was a vacant through the recent death of Viscount Grey of Fallodon.

Denies Any Association With German Government

Representative Of Dye Corporation Buying Nickel For His Firm

Ottawa, Ont.—Expressing amazement at the suggestion that his mission to Canada for the purpose of contracting with the International Nickel Company for supplies of that metal might be connected with the re-arming of Germany, Eysten Berg, representing the I. G. Farbenindustrie of Frankfurt-am-Main, reiterated his duties were much more peaceful. Mr. Berg arrived here with Colonel W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., Canada's flying ace.

Mr. Berg emphatically dissociated himself from any connection with the German Government. The I. G. Company, he said, was the largest dye and chemical corporation in Germany—perhaps in the world—and in its many and varied products used many metals. Nickel was one. Normally the company employed 160,000 hands in its huge plants.

Two Thousand Marriages

To Be Celebrated Simultaneously In Italy In New Fascist Rite

Rome, Italy.—Two thousand marriages will be celebrated simultaneously in Rome and the province of Latium, in a new Fascist rite called "the consecration of nuptiality," to inaugurate the 12th year of Fascism and to exalt Premier Mussolini's fertile population program.

Similar ceremonies will be conducted throughout Italy at the same time. In Rome, 500 couples will meet in the ancient Church of Santa Maria Degli Angeli for a nuptial mass and to receive the benediction.

Sugar Smugglers

Ottawa, Ont.—General orders have been issued by Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters here to its coastguard and land forces to be on the lookout for sugar smugglers. The two-cent-a-pound federal tax created possibilities for a lucrative smuggling trade, but General J. H. MacNeill, commander of the R.C.M.P., does not believe it has reached any large scale.

Embargo On Wheat

Bismarck, N.D.—North Dakota railroads reported that shipment of wheat out of the state virtually was at a standstill as a result of Gov. William Langer's embargo. They said they were ready to transport the grain but received little for shipment. Sheriffs in the 35 counties, are under the governor's order to prevent acceptance of wheat for outside shipment by all elevators.

Surrenders Pension

Albert Wiggin Gives Up Heavy Life Insurance Policy

Washington.—Criticism of his retirement pay led Albert H. Wiggin, for years head of the Chase National Bank, to surrender his $100,000-a-year-for-life cheque in a surprise announcement to the United States senate banking committee.

Interrupting the presentation of a mounting pile of evidence of the profits and risks in the Cuban operations of the $2,000,000,000 financial house, Ferdinand Pecora, its counsel, put in to the committee record without comment a letter from Wiggin to the bank board giving up his annuity.

Concurrently with a meeting of the Chase board in New York to accept Wiggin's proposal, Pecora developed in questioning Sheppard Morgan, a Chase vice-president, that the bank floated $40,000,000 in Cuban bonds in United States with knowledge of a Cuban treasury deficit and financial troubles.

U.S. Carriers Seeking Minimum Lake Rate

Would Make Agreement Of Five Cents Per Bushel On Grain

Ottawa, Ont.—Official information obtained here is to the effect that United States lake carriers are endeavoring to reach an agreement with their Canadian competitors to fix a minimum rate on grain across the lakes of five cents per bushel.

The United States owners are working at Washington to have lake operations brought under the N.R.A. and it is understood have made good progress. They have represented to Canadian lake carriers that if the Canadian operators will agree not to cut rates below a 5-cent minimum, Washington will co-operate in fixing an N.R.A. code which will be binding upon all American carriers.

The proposed code, of course, would cover iron ore and other cargo moving between American ports, but Canada is interested only in lake rates on grain.

Prosperous Indians

Good Crops Place Indians In Favorable Position

Ottawa, Ont.—"Indians on prairie farms are remarkably prosperous at present and undoubtedly in a much better position economically than their white neighbors," says the annual report of the Indian Affairs Department.

This is due to intensive agricultural assistance and instruction given these Indians during the past half century by the government. Furthermore, Indians are exempt from payment of taxes and other overhead charges.

The Indian population of Canada remains at approximately 108,000.

MAY ADJOURN ARMS PARLEY UNTIL DEC. 4

Geneva, Switzerland.—Adjournment of the world disarmament conference until December 4 was recommended by its steering committee.

Simultaneous reports, originating in Geneva circles, were current that Chancellor Hitler's government would announce the conditions for Germany's return to the arms discussions and the League of Nations after November 12 plebiscite, called when her intention to quit both councils was announced.

France served notice that the League of Nations, and not the four-power western European peace pact, must handle disarmament when Rene Maasig, the French delegate, insisted before the steering committee that all disarmament discussions must be held exclusively in Geneva.

Arthur Henderson, the British chairman of the conference, said in a speech it would be disastrous to adopt a policy which could be interpreted as an unwillingness to complete the task of disarmament.

M. Maasig's contention given in behalf of Joseph Paul-Boncour, the foreign minister in the resigned French cabinet, was "apparently" in reference to suggestions that Italy, France and Great Britain should negotiate for the three-power pact to replace the agreement those countries signed last summer with Germany.

The proposal for a recess, subject to the approval of the conference was made with the understanding that a reopening of discussions in December depends on the progress made in the interim, either by private conversations or through a special committee.

DROP IN PRICES FOLLOWS GOLD BOOST IN U. S.

Washington.—As the United States Government pushed the price of newly mined gold 18 cents higher, a presidential order made it clear: only gold "recovered from the natural deposits in the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof" could be purchased under the new Rooseveltian monetary policy.

The edict ruled out the possibility that the gold mines of Canada or any other country outside the United States jurisdiction might be able to take advantage of the high price set by the Washington Government. The quotation of $31.54 fixed here was 47 to 57 cents above the price of the metal on the London market.

But even though the Washington level was 18 cents better than that of the day before, news from commodity markets brought the first reversal in the president's campaign for a higher general price level to be achieved by artificially raising the price of gold. Wheat fell off two to three cents a bushel; cotton, 50 to 65 cents a bale, and leading stocks, $1 to $2 1/2 a share.

Officials, however, expressed no discouragement. A steady continuation of the upward trend was hardly a have been expected, they said. They also said they saw nothing in the developments to indicate the economic policy behind Mr. Roosevelt's policy was unsound.

Germany Standing Firm

Must Be Assured Equality With Other Nations Hitler

Hanover, Germany.—Chancellor Hitler brought his momentous election campaign to provincial Germany, saying, "I am not a man of compromise and I am not a man of compromise." He said that Germany would not return to the League of Nations until assured full equality with other nations.

"If the world wants to see us anywhere it must recognize our equality—if it doesn't we will completely draw back," Hitler said.

He spoke to an audience of 100,000 people assembled in the mammoth exhibition hall and gathered in the streets before it. Amplifiers carried his voice to the throngs outside.

"In the future we will never again let our honor be soiled," said the German leader. "Courageously and joyously one must fight for one's rights."

Boycotting German Goods

Montreal, Quebec.—German goods were officially boycotted by the Montreal Jewish Council of Women in a resolution adopted unanimously at a meeting of the council here. Mrs. Alvin Zimmerman, co-founder with her husband of the school of international relations at Geneva, denounced Germany and defended the attitude adopted by France.

Fredicting Short Winter

Regina, Sask.—In spite of October blizzards which have swept Saskatchewan prairies, Indians of this district predict a short winter, with little snow. Their predictions last year, based on muskrats and berries proved correct. The winter was long and the muskrats needed their big houses, while the frozen berries furnished foods for birds. This year the signs are opposite they say.

Increase Is Shown

Ottawa, Ont.—An increase of 17 per cent was shown in financial transfers in the form of bank debits or amount of cheques passing through the banks in September when the total was $2,457,000,000 as compared with $2,096,000,000 in the corresponding month of last year, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Exhibit Of "Ice" Flowers

London, Eng.—"Ice" flowers from South Africa are giving London one of the most beautiful exhibitions ever staged here. Three consignments of South African wild flowers, packed in crates and transported in the cooling chambers of ships, form the nucleus of the exhibition.

Grant For Kingsford-Smith

Sydney, Australia.—As the result of wide public agitation for appointment of Air-Commodore Kingsford-Smith, famous flyer, to some public position, the federal government has announced a grant of $15,000 to him, no position being available.

For the first 37 weeks of 1933, ending 14th of September, 2,184,350 hogs were graded in Canada.

Poppy Day

The symbolism of the Poppy, the sorrowful appropriateness of its blood-red bloom, takes a deeper significance with each succeeding year. The Great War is passing almost into legend; a generation is bequeathed the duty of carrying into the years that have yet to come the work and deals of those whom the Poppy commemorates.

Canada has adopted the poppy as a symbol because of the 60,000 graves in France and Belgium in which lie the dead of the proceeding generation, because of the 170,000 Canadians to whom the conflict brought disablement of one kind or another. The crosses in the cemeteries of Flanders are garlanded with Poppies—dolorous emblems of a nation's youth consumed in the "Wrath-red forge of War."

On poppy day this Dominion pauses in its normal activities to recall the sacrifices of its young men, to pay tribute to their heroism, their hardihood and the uncompensated fortitude with which they bore their privations and sufferings. At the same time, Canada strives to liquidate in some small measure, an obligation to those disabled men employed in the Vetre Craft Workshops of the Country, whose only means of livelihood is the making of these simple emblems.

The wide ramifications of the great Canadian Legion, with its tens of thousands of workers on Poppy Day, take care of the distribution of these Poppies throughout Canada. There is thus ensured to their disabled comrades in these Vetre Craft Shops a loyal performance of a sorrowful yet praiseworthy task.

All Canadians of every age and degree should wear a symbol on Poppy Day. For that is surely a day of re-dedication to the work on hand of continuing the structure of civilization where the workers of a previous generation left off.

Grade XII—Janet Forster

FELLOW STUDENTS—

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you all once again for your kind support in the recent election. Although I might not appear thankful for my position by being "conspicuously absent" from our first dance, I really do appreciate the position you have given me, very much.

This month a new paper comes into being—our own school paper, of which you should be proud. We want your support. You know that a paper cannot be printed if we have nothing to print in it. Our editors are working very hard to make the paper a success—soliciting ads, digging up riddles and jokes, composing poetry. But the editors alone cannot make a paper; a want you to do your part in making this paper a success. Hand in your contributions regularly.

Do not consider this first copy a model. The next issue will be bigger and better than ever—that is, of course, if you support us enough to enable us to publish a second issue.

I think this paper is a very good idea. It will tend to create a new school spirit—a thing which our school has lacked in very much. It will arouse interest in our school activities and sports and will enable people outside the school to see what goes on inside our institution.

I think we should give our editor-in-chief, Eldon Rudd, and his class editors a vote of thanks for founding such a paper, but more than that, we should give them our utmost support.

Let our motto be "One contribution from everyone every month."
Douglas Wallace

President Wallace and Vice-President Middlemas report that outside of a few minor mishaps such as smashing up a car, etc., they had a very enjoyable trip to Ogar. After hearing how good the school dance was they wished they had stayed at home.

Eldon—If blood runs to your head when you stand on your head why doesn't it rush to your feet when you stand naturally? Eileen F—I don't know. Eldon—You've got something in your feet.

As the days get shorter and shorter and colder and colder, we begin to think of winter and its array of sports. Then the thought flashes through our minds, "Why, we have not got a rink yet," and we want to know why we haven't. A town the size of Wainwright looks unbalanced with an apple-box rink and a town six times as big as we need. The hockey boys are willing to do their part to put Wainwright on the "hockey map" but not in a rink like we had last year. Come on boys and girls, let our cry be "We want a good rink."

Come on fellows, send in contributions to us. You are saying that the editor-in-chief promising a separate school paper in his election speech and he is being because you haven't seen a copy yet. Well, you never will if you don't do your part and send in your contributions. You know you can't or your school marks would be higher, but if you send in good riddles, jokes, poems, short essays, etc. in books, magazines or papers send them in. Let's get together and see what we can do about it, come on fellows and bombard the editors with contributions and we won't do any more kicking.

AUBURNDALE GOSSIP

Week of October 25

A very successful sewing demonstration was held at the home of Mrs. Everett. Twenty women attended and all express the opinion "It was well worth while." We take this opportunity to extend our thanks to Miss Tiley, Miss Everett, Miss Hetherington and Mrs. Hetherington as well as others who so kindly helped us to make this a success.

Threshing operations have come to a close in most parts of the district, and the machines are stored for another year—most of us seem to feel a relief.

We hear that Mr. Everett has not been well of late, also that Mrs. Everett met with a small accident. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Mrs. A. C. Banting, of Denholm, Mrs. J. E. Fawell, of Adenack and Mrs. W. E. Pearn, of Battleford have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Seale for the past few days. They are nice of Mr. Seale. We welcome them to the district of Auburndale.

The Salvation Army are now holding services in the Auburndale United Church every second Sunday. The meeting held on Sunday, October 15th was not so well attended as the previous one, however we expect this is due to threshing operations. We enjoy these services and hope for a larger attendance the next Sunday. This meeting is to take the form of a Thanksgiving service.

The Salvation Army have asked that we bring donations of vegetables, etc. to be donated by us to the Vermilion Hospital. Everybody bring some and make it worth while.

The Vermilion Convention held on the fifth and sixth of October, was well attended by our teachers—Miss L. Harris of Hetherbell, Miss R. Seale, of Battleville, Miss E. McCrae, of Autumn Leaf, Miss M. Scott, of Willowby and Miss G. Heard, of Paradise Valley, as well as Mr. Major, Miss E. Major, Miss R. Arthur, of this district. They say they enjoyed the convention, and as to the banquet and the dance, they leave that to your imagination.

Miss Agnes Cleland spent Thanksgiving with her parents. We were all glad to welcome her back and needless to say numerous were her callers during her short stay.

Fred Howe spent the weekend here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Coran.

The young people's meetings, organized by Mr. Newberry before leaving, have held one meeting. The chief item was the reading of a letter from Mr. Newberry which contained an interesting message for each of us. We extend our thanks to Mr. and Mrs. D. Seale for the use of their home.

Miss Dorothy Hetherington spent Sunday evening with the Mrs. Frauers.

Weekend visitors to the city were, Mrs. Hetherington, the Misses Marie and Gustie Eyben and Miss G. Huart.

Miss Dorothy Seale has returned to Wainwright School after missing last week. Don't work to hard catching up Dorothy.

What we're wondering: When the next dance is to be?

What took Aubrey to Wainwright Saturday night?

What the men are going to do now that threshing is over?

If we're going to lose all the young sheiks that have come in for the threshing season?

Why Lloyd Everett came to church alone on Sunday?

If Angle Fraser got a new spring for his car?

Where Garth Hetherington spent Sunday evening?

Where Gordon Green went after church Sunday?

Whether Miss McCrae would rather pitch bundles or teach school?

If Hector Lawrence would like help to start the Chevie down the hill, in front of the church?

Who gave Vernie Arthur the beautiful wale?

When Harold Everett's house will be finished?

Who should take who home, when a young lady and a young gentleman go home together in the ladies rig, eh Mollie?

Pin-Head Pete

Wainwright, Alta.

October 26, 1934.

To Hon. Pin-Head Pete:

Somewhere in Australia,

c/o Jim Gump,

My Dear Pin-Head:

It is to inform you that I have given up all hopes that you will ever be anything but a pin-head. You should remember that I have often told you that you never should allow your mind to wander, because there is no good reason why it should return, if allowed to wander, as there is not much of it and it could easily be lost and no one would ever know the difference.

You know Pin-Head, I had another friend that had the same affliction that you have and after lingering along for some years, well, honestly I hate to tell you, but, well, the poor fellow got into an accident one day. Maybe I better just come right out and tell the plain truth. They did not know that way and let him in and in a little one day, he acted funny and Dr. Wallace was going to see if his head was busted or something, and he found out that it was, and just before he cemented it together again he thought he better see if all his brains were there and when he looked inside there were none, there and I heard Doc remark that, that fellows head was liable to collapse any time as there wasn't anything inside to prevent it. Now Pin-Head, I sure hate to tell you this and I want you to keep it a secret and don't tell a living soul, but I am confident that you are in exactly the same condition as that fellow, in fact I really believe you are the same fellow. Now it would be a pleasant surprise to everyone if they found out that it is you for everyone around here suspects that you have brains it will be a great surprise to spring on them the next time you come back here to visit.

You know Pin-Head, just wouldn't you know this town anymore. This guy Saunders the sign painter, has transformed this old town into a giddy flapper. Every store, powders and paints with rouge and lipstick and makes eyes at every body. I just couldn't understand but I see through it all now for yesterday at the Liberal Convention, Martin Forster was nominated on the Liberal ticket to represent this territory at Ottawa. Now Saunders confessed today to the officers that he knew it all the time and that is the reason he decorated the town up so gay. They fined Saunders to wait 13 months and 104 days for his money for painting the new town directory. Now good by Pete and be careful of your mind and don't let it wander as it surely would get caught on some homeles foot and maybe infect some body's food.

Sincerely your friend,

Hay Wire

P.S.

I asked Martin if he wouldn't hate to go away up to Ottawa and leave all his friends here and he said yes and that he had been putting this thing off long enough and he was going to take Frank Stevens and his loring machine along and bore through the skulls of some of those dumbbells and pore in a little Wainwright oil and oil up the machinery of the government and it would not be long before he would have his country saved.

What Think Ye of Christ?

The Rev. L. Spurgeon Clark

"What think ye of Christ? Whose Son is He? They say unto him, the son of David." Matt. 22:42.

This question has been sounding through the ages. It came from the lips of Jesus himself, and was intended for all men. These words were uttered when Jesus was about to finish his stay upon earth. He had travelled with his disciples throughout Judea and Galilee. The three years of his ministry were ending. He had come up to Jerusalem to suffer and die. Having lodged in Bethany, he entered the city where the multitudes had recognized him as the Messiah, and with hosannas of praise had said: "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Vast numbers had gathered from all parts of the Holy Land. The Scribes and Pharisees, resolved, if possible, to perplex him with their questions. They asked him questions concerning the government and doctrine, all of which he answered with such wisdom that they were confounded. Christ turning then asked them a question. "What think ye of Christ?" "And from that day forth," it is said, "durst no man ask him any more questions."

Certain people today make more foolish statements about Christ than any literary product, an idealized character, idealized by the evangelists of his time. Others say: "He was the student of prophecy. He saw that the time had come for Him to assume the claim of Messiahship. That he was the product of the age. How could this be true when the ideal of the age was military power, and world dominion, when Jesus unreservedly gave his life to helping the poor, blessing little children, comforting sorrowing mothers, giving peace to distressed fathers?"

We see Him step out of a carpenter shop, go to John for baptism, then into the wilderness where He maps out his program for world evangelism. He announces himself the son of man. He warns people and points them to God the Father, saying: "No man hath seen God at any time, except the Son."

1. What Think Ye of His Origin and Works?

"Behold a virgin shall bear a son and shall call his name Immanuel." And there shall come forth a shoot out of the stock of Jesse and a branch of his root shall bear fruit. The angels announce on that far off natal morning: For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord. And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins. We hear the testimony of God himself, "Thou art my beloved son in whom I am well pleased."

What think ye of his character? the greatest thing in the universe is man, and the greatest thing in man is character. The greatest thing in God is character. Jesus in his works only revealed the character of God. "God is light and in him is no darkness." Jesus came to bear witness of that light. The supreme end in the teachings of Jesus and Christianity is character.

Jesus was benevolent in spirit. "He shall lead his flock like a shepherd." The sheep hear the Master's voice and He is known of his. "A bruised reed shall he not break, nor a smoking flax shall he quench." We may be weak, but he does not cast us off for that, but instead says, "My grace is sufficient for thee." And he shall send a Saviour, and a great one. Those who heard Him testified to his greatness. "We have heard Him ourselves, and know that He is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world."

2. What Think Ye of Christ of the New Testament?

Peter at Caesarea said: "Thou art Christ the Son of the living God." Doubting Thomas exclaimed "My Lord and My God." Andrew affirmed, "We have found the Christ." The angels accompanied him when He came to earth-singing, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." They saw the object of the Messiah's coming, and made not only the heavens, but the very earth ring with song.

What did his enemies think of him? Hear the men who were possessed with evil spirits cry out, "What have we to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God." The Sadducees said, "Never spake a man like this man." Pilate's wife said, "Have nothing to do with this just man, for I have suffered many things concerning him in a dream." And Pilate himself said, "I find no fault in this man." The Centurion said, "He does not die like other men." "This is the Son of God." And the woman at the well said, "Sir, I perceive that thou art a prophet."

What think ye of Christ in the light of what his followers have said and done? The most beautiful picture ever painted of Jesus was painted in five little words—"He went about doing good." His followers throughout the ages have recognized, in order to do the most good, they must be more like Him. Men who have been bound to him by that all-absorbing love, have spent their lives contributing to the world a good life, for one example is worth a thousand arguments.

A great artist had spent months in painting the Christ, in what he desired to be his masterpiece of art, when it was finished, invited his friends to offer their criticism, and they said, "We find no fault with it." Then the master artist said, "I can find fault with it. It would have been better, if I had been more like Him."

His followers have always been singing, "More like the Master I would ever be. More strength, labor, more courage to be true." "My faith looks up to Thee, thou Lamb of Calvary."

3. What Think Ye of the Christ of History?

He is the central figure of history. What noble battles have been fought and won for the two great principles to which he gave utterance—namely truth and freedom. If we should blot out these words and erase the deeds done for them we should blot half the heroic pages of history. England scorned Turner's paintings and called them color-blotches and Turner died of a broken heart. England, then saw the scope and beauty of his genius and wove a wreath for his tomb. Keats died at the age of twenty-six, broken-hearted by English criticism. Society gave Socrates a cup of hemlock. Society spurned Jesus for Barabbas, but He redeemed the world and will ever reign, wearing the crown of everlasting dominion.

Augustus wrote to Charles saying, "He has filled the hearts of men and women with impassioned love for eighteen centuries." Napoleon exclaimed, "I know men, but this man, Jesus Christ, is no mere man."

What think ye of Christ in the light of the testimony of martyrs? Men who have stood at the stake burning without a groan, swearing allegiance to Him. See Ridley and Latimer, in late torture, but with good courage for truth's sake. Or Cranmer, as he let his hand burn into a crisp because he had once of fended the displeasure of earthly authorities. Martin Luther announced, "The just shall live by faith." He sought the truth, and when he found it, rested ill-content until the innermost precincts of a corrupt church quaked before the news of it, until the needy souls of men found an open fountain, whose waters flowed free to all, beside which ran the way of life, on whose guide-posts were inscribed the inviting message "Whosoever Will."

In youth, another saw a light flash on the Damascus road. The divine light flashed across his clouded sky, and illuminated the darkest recesses of his soul. He turned from ugliness to beauty, from an enemy of society to a great benefactor. Later he testified that he had been thrice beaten with rods, once stoned, thrice suffered shipwreck, a night and a day on the deep, in peril of robbers and thieves. But he closed his life with this testimony, "I am ready to be offered, the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." Paul followed this vision of duty and it led him to Christ; Christ followed his vision of duty and it led to Calvary's rugged heights, but from it flowed the broadest and deepest sea of humanity—the fathomless ocean of Christ's love.

4. What Think Ye of Christ Today?

What does He mean to you when you think of the future? When in temptation and sin, He is ever near to comfort and cheer. What think ye of Christ when convicted of sin, when sleep departs from your couch of repose, when food falls before your face and peace is absent? Is there anyone who can help, when the heart is burdened with sin and woe, who can speak the word of freedom, that affords sweet release, and whose blood can wash and make as white as snow? Yes, there is one, "When afflictions press the soul, and waves of trouble roll, and you need a friend to help you, He's the one."

What think ye of Christ when death enters the home? Our friends are dearest to us, yet how inadequate their words to give everlasting hope and consolation. Their sympathy is manifest, yet there is an aching void in our hearts, and a vacancy the world cannot fill. In this trying hour, one can know Christ when he fails to recognize his friends.

Finally, What think ye of Christ when you hear the outburst of the burdened heart—

"With eager heart and will on fire, I sought to win my great desire, Peace shall be mine, I said, but life grew bitter in endless strife,

"My soul was weary, and my pride was wounded deep. To heaven I cried God give me peace, or I must die.

The dumb stars glittered no reply. Broken at last, I boughed my head; Forgetting all myself, and said; Whatever comes, His will be done. And that moment, peace was won."

YES—He is mercy when He meets the sinful. He is sympathy when he meets the fallen.

He is compassion when he meets the suffering. He is the central figure, in history. He is the foundation stone of civilization.

He is the inspiration for right living. He is the strength for character building.

He is the only hope for time and eternity.

SYNOPSIS
Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful commercial artist, and Peter Anson, a struggling sculptor, meet in an art class. And fall in love. She is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family, but is not to share in their fortune when she comes of age. They are faced with the problem of "marriage or career" and Camilla does not want to let Peter down when he has so much promise as a sculptor. At an art school dance, Gus Matson, Peter's roommate, who is jealous of Peter's success, takes Camilla out on the lawn to tell her "something else" about Peter. Camilla, who knows that Peter is a cheat, that he only wants her money, and that he loves her himself. At that moment Peter appears on the scene and knocks Gus flat. On the way home from the party Camilla tells Peter they are going to do something about their problem. She decides that they are to be married, and until Peter establishes himself, go on living their separate lives. Above Peter's protests she carries her point.

When Peter returned to his room he found that Gus had been there and gone again, taking with him all that belonged to him and several articles belonging to Peter, as well. In the days which followed, he missed various of his possessions as he needed them: his tie, a lately acquired shirt, his work jacket and materials. In lieu of these, Gus had left his own discarded belongings.

But Peter dismissed such trivial matters from his thoughts and devoted them to ways and means of justifying his marriage to Camilla as soon as school closed in June. All their plans were made. They would be married quietly and keep it secret, if possible. Peter had wanted to take a studio somewhere near the museum, where he could work alone and devote all his time to studying and modeling. They agreed that he should do just that. Camilla had planned to remain with the Hoyts during the summer, while she looked for a position. Beyond that, everything was undecided. Her own family had suggested that she might return to them, but she had no desire to share a home and family which had disapproved her once. True, it has been done in the interest of her welfare, but she resented it, nevertheless.

A more attractive plan for her, she thought, would be to share a room somewhere near town with her younger sister, Rose, who already was a file clerk in a downtown office.

"I've always liked Rose best, since I've known my family," she told Peter. "Of course, we aren't much alike, having lived in so different environments, but we agree pretty well and she's a very little bit. I think I could learn a lot from her, and teach her things, too. It might be good for both of us, you see."
Peter favored that plan to her living alone, so it was tentatively arranged that as soon as Camilla obtained a position, she and Rose would take a room somewhere together. But upon no account was Peter to consider himself obligated to be a husband. Everything was to be entered into his career except their occasional pleasure of seeing each other and sharing inexpensive recreations such as they would have done under other circumstances. There was some discussion about confiding their plans to Mrs. Hoyt.

"But why should we?" Camilla asked. "The way she's throwing me out upon the mercy of the world, she can't much wonder if I go. I'll leave there soon, anyway, and I will only make her more disagreeable until I do. If she were my mother or really concerned for my future, it would be different. As for my own mother, she never has been concerned about me, except to give me away because it would provide a chance for me to live in luxury. Quer— to have two feel like a half-child, as it is." "You're worth a million," Peter told her.

"To you," she reminded him.
"Well, it had better be to me," he laughed happily. "How about the honeymoon?"
"We shall have that when you are famous and we can sail around the world," blithely.

"By that time, you will be a gentle old lady with white hair and I shall be a crotchety old fossil," he warned her.
"I'll wait! But, Peter, you might get your new studio ready to celebrate our wedding!"

For which he applied himself to every odd task he could find that would add a few dollars to his depleted account. He had hoped to take one of the larger studios in the Crafts building, but he kept this cherished ambition to himself and managed a similar one in the Annex Hall, in the rear. At least it was very much better than the shabby rooming house where he had been living, and where he would not have taken Camilla for anything in the world.

There were times when he doubted the wisdom of their impulsive plans. This wasn't the way he wanted Camilla. Still— he could have her no way— unless he took some commercial position at a nominal salary and sacrificed his beloved dream. He would do that, even, if some situation developed which made it necessary. But for her sake as well as his own just now, the braver, wiser course was the one on which they had agreed.

Even so, she was a magnificent little sport to take such a chance with him. Like a youngster who refuses to look at the mince pie while he obediently eats the bread pudding which his mother recommends for him. Well, he never would forget her loyalty, he vowed, and resolved to make it up to her some day. He hoped that day would not be too far away.

As for Camilla, her felicity clothed her like a shining garment. Her joy of anticipation could not have been greater had she approached a marriage of prominence and wealth, to be celebrated with a royal wedding. Her manner continued to mystify Mrs. Hoyt, who rather envied anyone whose slightest word or action could convey so much delight. Her beauty glowed warmly, as a flower-bud opens expectantly to the promise of its fulfilment.

She laughed and sang about the house as she had done in those years before she had learned the truth about her family and position. She was much more amiable and confidential with Mrs. Hoyt. At the same time that person knew she was concealing from her the most intimate experience in her life.

"Camilla," she ventured one evening. "It can't be that you are interested in this—ah—Mr. Anson?"

"Why shouldn't I be interested in him? He is the most popular fellow in school," she replied calmly enough, while her heart beat furiously at the mention of Peter's name. Of course, he was in her thoughts constantly, but it started her to hear his name spoken by anyone else. Mrs. Anson soon saw she would be Mrs. Anson, she thought with exultation.

"Of course, but being popular at National is of little significance. Such prominence means nothing. You must not waste your attentions upon a man who is not already established."

Anger swelled within Camilla's breast, but she had learned to control her thoughts and speech in the presence of this dominating woman whom no words could move. Opposing her was like insulating that you were stronger than a stone wall and trying to batter it down with your feeble force. Better to attack that it was there and later climb over the obstruction quietly.

"I don't intend to waste my attentions upon any man," Camilla replied enigmatically. Which was true enough. Any attention which she gave to Peter was not wasted, she thought with a secret happiness, and continued thoughtfully. "My greatest concern now is a position. You know, mother, I'm beginning to thank you a lot for the arrangements you made for my future. You couldn't have done better, because I am going to find myself and real happiness in this great adventure into which you have forced me."

"But my dear, my plans did not involve your taking a position. I reared you so that you could marry wealth and position—and you may, at any time you wish. Terry called again today."

"I'm not at all interested in Terry. I am too busy to be wasting my time on a man like him," she repeated, with a chuckle. "Our class assignments are pretty heavy now and final exams in two weeks. All the time I can spare for social affairs will be occupied at school. By the way, are you coming to see me presented with my certificate of entry into the world affairs? Society will be represented quite largely, because I am not the only lady of leisure who got along with the ambition bug. Avis Werth, you know, and Muriel Ames are in the same class. The difference is that they went to National to increase their chances of finding a man and I went to decrease my need of accepting one," she laughed.

"Camilla, you are incorrigible. You always have been a problem that grows no better with age, and looking for a solution."

"Then you'll be rather glad to be rid of me, won't you?" she observed thoughtfully, with that inherent twinge of pain which everyone experiences at the thought of leaving the place that has been home.

Even Mrs. Hoyt's practical voice was a little wistful when she replied, "No—I shall miss you very much, Camilla. I wish there were some way—but not in my day to move about it. You will not be leaving for several months, and much can happen during the summer."

How much would happen she little knew, thought Camilla. Nor did she know that the most important clue her opportunity, which is the inevitable hope of youth, might have dropped sadly.

Just Silly Superstition
Nothing In Idea About Broken Mirror Or Spilled Salt

Don't be alarmed if you break a mirror and someone says that you'll have seven years' bad luck, because, like most superstitions, it is all nonsense and merely the end of witchcraft that was practiced during the Middle Ages. In those days if someone wanted to do harm to someone else he would contrive to break a mirror into which the second person had lately peered. It was said that if the mirror could be broken before the image of the victim had "evaporated" seven years' bad luck would be bound to follow the smashing of the glass. Actually, of course, the whole idea is ridiculous, just as ridiculous as thinking that the spilling of salt will bring bad luck. That particular superstition is the result of the very ancient idea that to spill salt at a man's table after one has dined with him is to insult him and challenge him to battle.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST
By Aline Michaelis
SUNSETS

Through many years I have watched sunset after sunset, of amber, turquoise, jade, and rose. You must have seen the hues of paradise. Flare out in rainbow dance and fleetly fade.

I know where one tall pine against the west. Stands up to snare the young moon, dropping down.
And I have seen, above a high hill's crest,
The bright clock-towers of some celestial town.

Oh, all the jewels, all the flowers are there. Heaped for a little time along the sky.
And this their message: How can man despair,
When day in such triumphant mood can die?

Studied Wild Life
Late Viscount Grey Had Remarkable Power Over Birds

Since his retirement from the Foreign Secretaryship in 1916, the late Viscount Grey had devoted less and less time to politics and more and more to the study of wild nature, of which he was passionately fond. He had a remarkable power over birds, and his study window at Falloon was always kept open so that they could come in for a meal! In the grounds is a sanctuary for waterfowl, some of which are so tame that they would perch on Lord Grey's hat and feed from his hand. If he neglected them they plucked at his bootlaces.

Agriculture in Canada
Is Chief Single Industry Of People in Dominion

Agriculture, including stock raising and horticulture, is the chief single industry of the Canadian people, employing according to the latest available figures 28.7 per cent of the total gainfully occupied population and 33.9 per cent. or over one-third of the gainfully occupied males. In addition it provides the raw material for many Canadian manufacturers, and its products in raw or manufactured form constitute a very large percentage of Canadian exports.

Removing Old Landmark
Chequers Inn Was Once Haunt Of Highwaymen in England

Chequers Inn, in Isleworth, England, former haunt of highwaymen and famous in fiction, as the place where Bill Sykes spent the night before the burglary, is to be razed after 400 years of service. Its rambling red roofs and crooked dormer windows have seen stirring sights, and the upper story, built out long over the street, has caused the proud heads of Turpin and Dick Turpin as they entered for refreshment or plunder. So frequently were the raids of the highwaymen of the Heath that a wily landlord devised a method of saving his brandy and his hollands. The concealed pipes which supplied the bar with spirits from kegs hidden in a chesterfield in the room above, and the dummy casks which were kept full of water, to hand over to the raiders, as still to be seen.

The Only Exception
"What a big family you have, Mrs. Jones," said the visitor.
"Yes! And the funny thing is that all the names begin with a 'H'! There's 'Harris', 'Henderson', 'Hill', 'Hart', 'Hobbs', 'Hawkins'—all except 'Hallice'!"

Almost Instant Relief From Neuralgia

2. 20 MINUTES LATER
"IT'S WONDERFUL HOW QUICKLY MY NEURALGIA WENT THAT ASPIRIN CERTAINLY WORKS FAST."
"YES, ISN'T IT WONDERFUL!"

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered. These results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" and pain a few minutes after taking. The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And this is ready to go to work almost instantly. When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN's quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin. Does Not Harm the Heart
